

Migration between platforms*

Preliminary — do not quote

Gary Biglaiser†
Jacques Crémer‡
André Veiga§

March 2, 2018

*We gratefully acknowledge financial support from the NET Institute, the Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia, the Agence Nationale de la Recherche Scientifique under grant ANR-10-BLAN-1802-01, the Jean-Jacques Laffont Digital Chair at the Toulouse School of Economics and the European Research Council (ERC) under the European Union’s Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme (grant agreement No 670494).

We thank seminar participants in Toulouse, UK Leuven, Oxford University, ESMT Berlin (2nd Economics of Platforms Workshop) as well as Domenico Menicucci and Alex White for comments.

†University of North Carolina, Department of Economics, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3305, USA; gbiglais@email.unc.edu

‡Toulouse School of Economics, Université Toulouse Capitole, Manufacture des Tabacs, 21 Allée de Brienne, 31000 Toulouse, France; jacques@cremeronline.com

§Department of Economics, Imperial College, London; andreveiga@gmail.com.