

01B – University Toulouse Capitole: Discover the Toulouse School of Economics and Science Po Toulouse

The Campus Experience begin will with a welcome session and a presentation by the University Toulouse Capitole. Participants who would like to go to the Campus Experience by Public Transport from the city centre may take bus or metro (Ligne B - Arrêt Compans Caffarelli). The tour will begin at the TSE Building, then travel to the Arsenal Building and will be followed by lunch offered to every participant by the University Toulouse Capitole. In the afternoon, participants will have two workshop sessions, with a coffee break in between sessions so they can network with their peers.

About the institution

Since 2023, the University Toulouse Capitole has been an experimental public institution, which means that a higher education institution has integrated with it.

The Toulouse School of Economics (TSE) is a thriving world-renowned centre for economic research chaired by Nobel laureate Jean Tirole. TSE's mission is to advance and transmit knowledge in economics, other quantitative social sciences and allied disciplines to address today's societal challenges. We aim to empower students, partners and citizens with the scientific knowledge and tools to identify and implement well-informed and impactful decisions, combining individual freedom and the need to coordinate actions in the pursuit of the common good.

The Toulouse Institute of Political Studies, named Sciences Po Toulouse, is a higher education and research establishment autonomous within the University Toulouse Capitole. The school, founded in 1947, is recognised for its academic excellence in political science, economics, law and sociology. The teaching at Sciences Po Toulouse focuses on practical learning and critical thinking skills. Students are encouraged to develop analytical thinking and acquire the skills necessary to become top professionals in their field.
